Detailed Action

1. Claims 1-30 are presented for examination. This office action is in response to the RCE filed on 5/13/05.

2. Applicants are reminded of the duty to disclose information under 37 CFR 1.56.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 28 is objected to because of the following informalities: It appears that "claim 24" should be changed to – claim 26—for consistency. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-6, 10, 11-16, 20, 21-26 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over "The cache Memory Book" , Jim Handy, Academic Press, 1993, pp 37-93 (Handy) in view of Arlitt et al. (Arlitt) US Paten No. 6,272,598.

As to claims 1, 11, and 21, Handy discloses an apparatus comprising: a cache manager (Fig. 2.10 control logic) to manage a transfer (page 63 eviction and page 55, replace algorithm read on this limitation) of a trace (Page 60 instruction cache read on this limitation); an execution unit (Fig. 2.10 CPU); a first cache (Fig. 2.23 L1 and Section 2.2.10) coupled to the cache manger to evict the trace based on a replacement mechanism (page 63 eviction and page 55, replace algorithm read on this limitation and since during a cache miss, a line is needed to evict to free up a space for a new entry); and a second cache (Section 2.2.10 L3 cache) coupled to the cache manager to receive the evicted trace based on a replacement algorithm (page 63 eviction and page 55, replace algorithm read on this limitation and since during a cache miss in L2, a line is needed to evict to L3 to free up a space for a new entry in L2) however, Handy does not specifically disclose the second cache coupled to the cache manager to receive the evicted trace based on a first number of access to the trace.

Arlitt discloses a cache to receive the evicted trace based on a first number of access to the trace (col. 6 lines 43-55) for the purpose of increasing the hit rate thereby increasing the system speed by retaining popular lines for longer time periods (col. 6 lines 52-55).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to replace LRU algorithm in L2 with LFU/MFU algorithm thereby the cache coupled to the cache manager to receive the evicted trace based on a first number of access to the trace as taught by Arlitt into the invention of Handy for the advantages stated above.

As to claims 2, 12, and 22, Arlitt further discloses a usage counter (col. 6 line 45 and LFU/MFU replacement policy reads on this limitation).

As to claims 3, 13, and 23, Arlitt further discloses a comparator and a first threshold value that being a fixed number or a first dynamically adjusted number (col. 6 lines 49, frequency count exceeds a threshold parameter reads on this limitation).

As to claims 4, 14, and 24, Handy further discloses the trace is transferred from the first cache to the second cache (Fig. 2.23 and Section 2.2.10). Arlitt further discloses the trace is transferred when the first threshold value is less than the first number of accesses to the trace (col. 6 lines 43-55).

As to claims 5, 15, and 25, Arlitt further discloses the trace is discarded when the first threshold value is more than the first number of accesses to the trace (replacement or eviction reads on this limitation since a line is evicted to the L2 col. 6 lines 43-55).

As to claims 6, 16, and 26, Handy further discloses a L2 cache (Section 2.2.10).

As to claims 10, 20, and 30, Handy further discloses a LRU mechanism (col. 2 lines 26-27).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 7-9, 17-19, and 27-29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims and if rewritten or amended to overcome the claim objection(s) or claim rejection(s), set forth in this Office action.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

1. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See attached PTO-892.

2. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) days from the mail date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will result in ABANDONMENT of the application (see 35 USC 133, MPEP 710.02, 710.02(b)).

3. When responding to the office action, Applicant is advised to clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. He or she must also show how the amendments avoid such references or objections. See 37 C.F.R. ' 1.111(c).

4. When responding to the office action, Applicants are advised to provide the examiner with the line numbers and page numbers in the application and/or references cited to assist examiner to locate the appropriate paragraphs.
